There can't be too much doubt about the most important issue facing the Trust right now. A quick scan of the Citizen will bring you the latest coruscating correspondence on the subject. We are acutely aware that increasing numbers and maybe you, our Members, are becoming heartily sick of the topic – which has, after all, been rumbling on over the past decade or longer: so much so, that many would opt for the quiet life and let Fife Council have its way.

It would be nice to let you off lightly and write about something else, but I can't: it's far too important a matter for that - one that strikes at the core of the Trust's founding principle, to preserve, for the benefit of the public, the amenities and historic character of St Andrews and its neighbourhood. This Newsletter and a flyer enclosed with it have some serious messages about the site of the new Madras, and I beg you to give them your full attention.

If the new school is built on the Council's chosen site, it will blight the town's southern approaches and will add fuel to the threat of urban sprawl far beyond Pipeland Farm, obliterating the town's historic and magical landscape setting for all time, and condemning the town and generations of pupils to unnecessary transport. Fife Council has to overcome a major obstacle to show it has the legal right to build on Green Belt land: they have to demonstrate that there is no viable alternative. That is why they have waged an aggressive campaign against the North Haugh site, which we favour and which most people agree would be a far better location for the school, on the "right" side of town for its users. The Council says it is a "swamp" and that Andrew Melville Hall, close by, was often waterlogged. Not true: the pond on the site was created when it was landscaped in the '80s (and had to be lined with plastic to keep the water in it!); Andrew Melville Hall was sometimes flooded – but it was because the roof and walls leaked and it let in rain water. The Council say that problems on the North Haugh would result in substantial extra cost; yet they have chosen to ignore the potentially severe difficulties with Pipeland. Indeed, there has not yet been a proper survey of Pipeland.

Many, especially parents, seem convinced that Pipeland offers the fastest route to delivering a new school. Not so. The legal process involved with such a contentious planning application could delay delivery by years; by contrast, the North Haugh is unlikely to encounter significant objections. (It must be remembered that, following the Government Reporter's adjudication, the Council, in their own Local Plan, designated this site for educational purposes.)

Of course I could go on. Suffice it to say that we are making determined efforts to stop the Council's Pipeland proposals, and I urge you to take every opportunity to follow suit, and to persuade your friends to do likewise. In a battle like this, numbers count. We will keep you posted as to how you can help most.

Despite all this – as you will read in these pages – the Trust's other activities continue as usual. The wonderful acquisition, completed last autumn, of the old communal wash house and drying green adjacent to the Museum garden opens up the possibility of greater space and new facilities at the Museum, including an extended garden. At the same time, our tenant at Queen's Gardens has vacated the room rented from us, and we need to work out how best to use the office space there. Two committees, one for each location, are working on the problem and should report in a few months' time.

Another Committee has been carrying out a strategic review to give us some pointers as where we should be heading and how we need to be organised over the coming years. Their draft report makes interesting reading and will soon be debated by Trustees. I hope we can offer some further news on this and everything else we do at the AGM on Thursday, 16 May. I very much look forward to seeing you there.

Chairman

UPDATE - THE NEW MADRAS

We would like to thank all members who expressed their opposition to Pipeland as the site for the new Madras College. The Council is now embarking upon the planning stage. Events to show to the public the council's outline proposals are being held [8th May, St Andrews Town Hall (2-8) and 23rd May, Madras Kilrymont Building (4-9)] in the pre planning application stage. Members living locally are urged to attend one of the Council's presentations and make strong adverse comments arguing that Pipeland is an unsuitable site. We will return to this issue and seek your support in making well-argued objections when an application for planning permission is lodged. An explanation of the planning process is included as an inset to this newsletter.

PLANNING REPORT

After the rush of planning work before Christmas, the last few weeks have been relatively quiet, with most applications being for acceptable repairs, or for work outside the conservation area.

Our main concerns have arisen as a result of requests to build inappropriate buildings within the heart of the conservation area. One is for a private house in a garden on The Scores, which would represent a complete overdevelopment of the site. There has already been one application, which was turned down. This application was submitted with an out-dated plan, and when most of the neighbours whose properties would overlook the site were away.

The major concern so far this year has come from a further proposal to build on the site at the bottom of West Burn Lane. The Committee is relieved that this application is for private housing, and not student accommodation, but in every other respect it is very disappointing. The proposal is for 6 town houses, 4 maisonettes and 4 apartments. The design, materials and scale are all totally inappropriate to the area, incorporating nearly flat zinc roofs, cantilevered first floors facing onto the lane, white/yellow clay bricks, large modern windows, and balconies/roof terraces which will look out over the lang riggs to the south of South Street. The nine blocks will be of 3 and 4 storeys, and they would present a very broken street frontage, with some coming forwards and others stepping back. The Trust has submitted an objection and we now await the outcome.

The Trust was delighted to see the application by the university to turn Martyrs Church on North Street into an annex to the main library. This would appear to be a sensitively designed rescue for the building.

The owner of Hamilton Hall has submitted a request not to change the shape of some of its dormers, as was requested by the council. The Trust feels the main problem is the bright white paint, which makes the dormers stand out in a far too obvious fashion by contrast with the windows on the lower floors of the building, which are painted a very dark green. It has therefore submitted a suggestion that the dormers should also be painted this very dark green, and if not this colour, then a very dark grey should be used to blend with the slates.

PLANNING POLICY REPORT

MADRAS COLLEGE REPLACEMENT

Members will by now be familiar with the ongoing debate as to the best location for the new school. A letter from the Chairman in February encouraged members to say NO to the proposal to build the school at Pipeland, immediately next to the Community Hospital on the recently established Green Belt. Hopefully many of you responded accordingly and helped to increase the opposition to a school at this location. We could know the result by the time you receive this Newsletter. The Trust continues to support the campaign for a site at the North Haugh to be seriously considered by Fife Council with co operation from the University.

SINGLE FIFE DEVELOPMENT PLAN

The consultation period for The Main Issues Report in respect of the next local plan, “FIFEplan” ended on 10th March. The Trust’s responses covered the various issues relevant to St Andrews including proposals by developers for additional housing sites (including Pipe-land!) HMO’s in the town centre, car parking and potential sites for windfarms possibly visible from St Andrews.

APPEALS

The Trust has continued to oppose the following planning applications which were refused by the Council but now appealed by the applicants.

- Kenly Wind Farm
- Wonder Years Nursery and Student Accommodation (at East Sands)

NEW AREA PLANNING COMMITTEE

Fife Council has agreed that local planning decisions will now be determined by a N.E. Planning Committee which will meet separately from the North East Fife Area Committee. All local councillors will sit on this new committee which will cover the same geographical area as before. This is the outcome we had hoped for.

ENVIRONMENT REPORT

There are only a couple of items to bring to members’ attention in this Newsletter.

The first is the Pride of Place Awards evening, for which we now have a date. This will take place in the Old Parliament Hall on Thursday September 19th. Our Chairman, Graham Wynd, and our advisor, Jimmy Macgregor, are working together in finalising plans for this forthcoming event. Full details will be supplied in our July Newsletter. The guest list will be compiled by both Jimmy and Graham. However, for your reference, please note that it will be by invitation.

Apart from being our advisor on the Environment Committee, Jimmy is also President of the local Rotary Club. He has organised a sponsored walk along the Rob Roy Way, details of which are below. The proceeds will be used to fund the Pride of Place Awards and other specific projects in St Andrews.

The Rob Roy Way – Wednesday 22nd May - Sunday 26th May

Stage 1	Pitlochry to Aberfeldy	9½ miles	Wednesday 22 nd May
Stage 2	Aberfeldy to Ardtalnaig	14 miles	Thursday 23 rd May
Stage 3	Ardtalnaig to Killin	11½ miles	Friday 24 th May

Stage 4	Killin to Strathyre	12½ miles	Saturday 25 th May
Stage 5	Strathyre to Aberfoyle	16 miles	Sunday 26 th May

Route Total - 63½ miles

Each section will be led by an experienced guide and the cost of participation will be £10 per stage or £40 for the whole walk. If required, participants will have to organise their own accommodation. Participants will receive a detailed information sheet giving starting points for each day etc. and an invitation to the Awards Ceremony. If any member wishes to take part in the sponsored walk, the form can be downloaded at the official website below:

<http://www.rotary-ribi.org/clubs/page.php?PgID=334648&ClubID=53>

The second item is the 50th Anniversary of the Trust taking responsibility for the management of the Boase Wood this year. It seems fitting that the Preservation Trust should celebrate this event in some way. This will be explored further, in discussion with our Trustees. We hope to announce our proposal to members, in the next issue of our Newsletter.

FINANCE AND PROPERTY REPORT

The first months of the year are taken up with the preparation and finalisation of the Annual Accounts to the previous 31 December. In conjunction with Ian Palfrey of Henderson Black we have reached the happy position of the Accounts being finalised and being sent to the printers for incorporation into the Annual Report of the Trustees. I must thank Ian most sincerely for all his help and guidance in this large task, as the accounting requirements to enable a charity to maintain the charitable status get more complex every year.

The end figure for the year is a trading surplus of £100,396 mainly thanks to an unrestricted legacy received during the year and the increase in dividend income. After taking into account the realised and unrealised gains on our investments we have a positive net movement in funds of £144,805. In addition we have re-valued the property at 136 South Street, giving a total increase of £338,095. This gives the Trust total funds at 31 December 2012 of £1,021,272 which includes the properties owned by the Trust.

During the year the opportunity came up for the Trust to purchase the former drying green and wash house adjacent to the museum. The legacy enabled the Trustees to complete the purchase and consideration is in hand to review the space and facilities at the museum area.

The first months of the year also involve the office in receiving the annual and life subscriptions for 2013. I am pleased to say that many members have already renewed their membership, many by standing order through their bank, but inevitably there are some who have not yet renewed. If you have already renewed, many thanks. If you have not yet renewed then can I please ask you to do so as soon as possible as the subscription income is vital to the annual finances and work of the Trust?

The receipt of the unrestricted legacies prompts me to suggest to members that they consider that this is something that could be added to the terms of their wills for the future benefit of the Trust.

FUNDRAISING REPORT

ANNUAL QUIZ NIGHT

The annual Trust Quiz night proved to be a resounding success with twenty-two teams taking part. Due to increasing the team entry charge from £20 to £24 coupled with a most successful Raffle, the event yielded a net balance of £589.79 (Raffle £227 Team Entry £524). The 2012 net was £412.78. My thanks go to all who took part and to those who helped with the organisation, especially Frances who set the questions. The fact that the same team appears to win each year did not affect the number of entries.

'WHO LIVED HERE?': A WALK, TALK AND SUPPER

At the time of going to press, this exciting event on Friday 19th of April 2013 looks like being a considerable success. The format is a Guided Tour around the old part of Town, stopping here and there at the homes of notable St Andreans and some of the characters featured in the Kate Kennedy Procession. Thanks to the agreement and assistance of 'The Gentlemen of the Kate Kennedy Club' and Wendy Quinault, six students are taking part and will be resplendent in their costumes. In addition, Pat Anthony will represent Mary Queen of Scots and Marysia Denyer Joan Clark, the last Fisher Woman of the Town and the most recent character to be represented in the Kate Kennedy procession. Narration is in the hands of the well-known local thespian Alan Tricker. A full report of this event which commences at 7.00 pm from All Saints Church Hall, will be included in the next newsletter.

HIDDEN GARDENS 2013

Please make a note in your diaries that our Hidden Gardens event this year will take place on Sunday 30th of June. We will need as many Trustees and members as possible to lend a hand selling tickets, setting up and taking down, contributing baking, helping to serve the refreshments at St Johns' garden and of course helping at the Museum Garden. If you are able to help and have not already said so, please contact Janette at the office on 477152 with an indication of what you are able to do. Helpers will receive a ticket to view the gardens in return for their time and support.

The HG committee have now met and a number of gardens were considered with the view of confirming the final list at our next meeting. It was agreed to incorporate the Drying Green this year, the Museum HG committee will decide in what way and report back

MEMBERSHIP, PUBLICATIONS AND PUBLICITY REPORT

Thank you to members who have paid their subscriptions for 2013. There are still some members whose membership fees are outstanding. We rely on subscriptions as the backbone of our income. Can I therefore urge those still to pay their sub for this year to do so by making payment to the administrator, Janette Gillespie, in the office at 4 Queen's Gardens, KY16 9TA. Tel 01334 477152.

We again continue to secure a good level of press coverage in both the "Citizen," and the Fife edition of the "Courier". Events covered have included the highly successful exhibition of work done by the research group of the museum volunteers. This well attended event had coverage in both newspapers with a photo in the Courier. The same was true of the Annual Quiz with publicity both before and after the event. Trustee, Marysia Denyer's photograph of Chairman, Graham Wynd with the winning "Nae Chance" team featured prominently in the "Courier". We also submitted for "Town News" in the Citizen a synopsis of the meetings of the Board of Trustees for both February and March. The Trust's strong views opposing the Fife Council proposal to site the new Madras College at Pipeland Farm have been prominently publicised in both articles and letters to the "Citizen" and the "Courier".

As regards publications, we are already planning to have two new designs of Christmas cards for sale later in the year. Meanwhile a number of cards originally produced for previous years are now being sold at heavily discounted prices from the office and will be on sale at the museum during its summer exhibition which runs from 25th May till 29th September. A new publication is also likely to be on sale in the late summer. Our previous curator, Jennifer Reid, has written a short history of the museum building at 12 North Street. The museum committee and this committee have agreed that this is an excellent venture. They have agreed to recommend proceeding with this project once a bibliography has been added and final proof reading has been undertaken.

Another publication that is being planned will have heavy involvement from our new museum curator, Samantha Bannerman. Sam has been involved in producing calendars at the Black Watch Museum in Perth and has considerable knowledge as to how to proceed with such a project. As well as being attractive to members and, because we have such a large and varied photographic archive, this should prove a valuable source of income for the Trust. A small sub-committee, involving the curator, has been set up to bring this project to fruition. There will, as usual, be a publications stand at the AGM.

We will be seeking maximum publicity for our second annual lecture, likely to be held in October, following the great success of last year's inaugural event. This will be a double bill relating to the founding of the university, 2013 being its 600th anniversary. Dr Frank Quinault will deliver a lecture on Pope Benedict XIII, Pedro de Luna, who promulgated the bulls leading to the University's foundation. Dr Barbara Crawford, Director of the Strathmartine Institute, will take as her subject the life of Bishop Henry Wardlaw the founder of the first college, whose statue is currently being sculpted by David Annand for erection in St Mary's Quadrangle. We will also be publicising the third Preservation Trust "Pride of Place" awards to be held on 19th September.

MUSEUM REPORT

Our new Curator, Sam Bannerman's event made an impressive start in her new post, with the Research group's display. This fully justified the extension to 8 days including a coffee morning well patronised by volunteers, trustees and members of the public. The research exhibition also saw our first Museum DVD displays, which were much appreciated, and these are to be expanded by Arlen Pardoe to include the research dossiers themselves. Total visitor numbers were 316 with takings of £313.38. We propose to continue with this next year not least as it fosters good relations with volunteers.

The research exhibition was followed by our hosting of two STANZA Poetry Festival events: Leo Norris's "poetic" wood sculptures ("Out of the wood") and Carry Ackroyd's beautiful lithographs ("Found in the fields") based on poems by the poet John Clare. The quality of the events was on a par with some of the best we mount independently. They are to be followed shortly by the Museum's own Easter exhibition on "The St Andrews School: local artists." This will be previewed for volunteer helpers on Thursday 28th March before the trustees and guests' preview on March 29th.

The Museum Committee's forward planning has been confirmed with our mentor, Emma Jane Wells, and the "wish list" requested by the Trust Treasurer has been finalised, to lay down short, medium and long-term plans for the museum in an order of priority. Where these plans move into territory that the Andrew Johnson committee is to report on we shall be adjusting them when we learn what is proposed. In the meantime we very much welcome Andrew's plans to bring the "drying green", that the Trust recently acquired, into play for this year's Hidden Gardens.

We shall be pressing ahead meanwhile with the 2013 accreditation process: an exercise that has absorbed much of the time of previous curators. We have also set in motion plans for electronic and digital security for the Museum premises, collections and electronic data, under the guidance of Arlen. AdLib databasing and the expansion of our website will meanwhile be a major component of Internet contacts with the outside world.

Plans for the publication of Jennifer Reid's excellent History of the Museum are being progressed by the Publications Committee. Recommendations have also been drafted for encouraging and regulating increased sales of photos from the Museum collections. Museum and the Johnson committees are also considering improvements in marketing of photos from our collections. The Committee has also approved draft rules encouraging and regulating use of the Museum premises by groups within or outwith the Trust. The museum remains the home base for volunteer and other activities, and for servicing our collections, but legitimate external users are of course welcome on application to the Curator.

The Committee welcomes the inclusion of two trustee Museum Committee members on the Johnson committee. These, and the presence of Lesley Barrie as secretary should ensure effective communication and liaison over the coming months.

The talks series has continued to be highly successful and plays an important role in motivating a close-knit team of volunteers. A recent talk by Bess Rhodes on “Homes and Houses in 16th century St Andrews” was well attended.

Trustees are reminded that the volunteers are the oxygen of the Museum’s contacts with the public and maintenance of volunteer morale is a sine qua non of efficient running of the Museum.

The AGM sees the “retirement” of Volunteers Organiser Frances Humphries and Museum Convenor Prof Sam Taylor. Trustees will be well aware of Frances’s enormous contribution to volunteer programmes and recruitment.

Overall the Museum, which is “big business” in charity terms, has a well established programme, a new curator of real ability, activities that bring considerable sums into Trust accounts and a volunteer team of tried and tested quality and loyalty. The retiring convenor would like to express personal thanks to all for their support and commitment.

Museum Convenor

PROGRAMME REPORT

All members of the public are welcome to attend a re-dedication ceremony at the Martyrs’ Monument on the Bow Butts to mark the completion of the conservation and restoration works. This will take place on Wednesday 22 May 2013, commencing at 4.15pm. The project has been managed under the St Andrews Partnership with the Preservation Trust contributing a leading role.

We still hope to arrange a tour inside the Hamilton Grand apartments when the refurbishment is finished, likely to be in July. The management of the Old Course Hotel, Golf Resort & Spa remain keen for us to visit but they are unable yet to confirm a date when the interior work will be completed. We plan to issue an invitation to attend with the July newsletter. However, if you live outside St Andrews, and you think you might be interested in coming, please notify Janette in the Trust Office by email at [trust@standrewspreservationtrust.org.uk or telephone (01334) 477 152] to register your name in case we are asked to make arrangements at short notice. If you are resident within the town limits we will, if necessary, organise a special delivery enclosing an invitation if this is prior to the next newsletter.

Also in July, the annual Summer Reception will be held in the garden of the Trust Museum (a repeat of last year's sunny warmth permitting ... or indoors, if not) on Friday, 26th July at 6.30pm - please note a return to the end of the week after last year's clash with London's sports' jamboree.

Later in the season the Golf and Putting Competitions are on Monday 26th and Wednesday 28th August, respectively. Details of how to apply for both will be publicised in the next newsletter.
